Indigenous peoples are caretakers of the Earth. Supporting their roles and endeavors in the implementation of the SDGs requires building mutually beneficial partnerships with their communities and organizations, even in the most remote rural areas, underpinned by respect and recognition for Indigenous Peoples’ rights and livelihoods. Join us for this HLPF 2020 high-level side-event to showcase how Indigenous Peoples’ knowledge, values and sustainable systems are essential to the realization of the entire 2030 Agenda, the importance of building strong partnerships with their communities and organizations to leave no-one behind, and the priorities of Indigenous Peoples in addressing the global outbreak of COVID-19.
