Plenary on Experience Economy Model

Location: Italian room

The session will present innovative ideas for investment projects in developing countries to transform agriculture goods produced locally into components of the "experience economy" in which consumers are willing to pay premium prices for products and services that provide additional intangible "experiences". The digital economy could help at selling those goods everywhere in the world and International Organizations like IFAD could identify new ways to support the initial transaction costs (i.e. communication and transport costs). When digital economy is supported youth labour market is strengthened. Linking the private sector and digital platforms – an area where IFAD is already expanding – has already happened in Low and Middle Income Countries like China, India, Georgia, and in the wine industry. During this session Ms. Jo Puri will present innovative ideas for the agriculture midstream that are learned from the 2021 RDR of IFAD while Professor Ashenfelter and Professor Swinnen will animate the discussion with examples from the experience economy model for agriculture produce.

An empirical strategy for program or policy evaluation is a research plan that encompasses data collection, identification, and estimation.
