

Jyotsna Puri (or Jo) is Associate Vice-President - Strategy and Knowledge Department (SKD) at IFAD. Jo leads the organizations strategy work in IFAD's key areas targeting agriculture, climate, gender, nutrition, youth and social inclusion. Puri provides the vision for evidence-informed advice on program designs and implementation, contributing to resource mobilization, and supporting IFAD's global remit in providing state-of the art policy advice related to these topics. Puri has worked previously at the Green Climate Fund, 3ie, UNEP, the World Bank and UNDP. She is also adjunct associate professor at Columbia University, New York where she was also a research scientist. She has published in many academic journals and written for newspapers and provided advice as a board member to several development organizations. In 2019, Puri was selected one of 16 women who have shown leadership in restoring the earth through their efforts, by the Global Landscape Forum. She holds a PhD and MSc in Agriculture and Resource Economics and an MA in Development Economics.

Anna Lartey is a Professor of Nutrition at the University of Ghana. She was the Director of Nutrition at the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, Rome, Italy from October 2013 to December 2020, where she led FAO's work on Food Systems for Nutrition. Prior to that Anna Lartey was a Professor of Nutrition at the University of Ghana (1986-2013). She was a Fulbright fellow (1994-1998) at the University of California, Davis, USA. She worked as a researcher in Sub-Saharan Africa for 27 years. Her research focussed on maternal and child nutrition. Anna won the University of Ghana's "Best Researcher Award for 2004". She held the International Development Research Center (IDRC, Canada) Research Chair in Nutrition for Health and Socioeconomic Development in Sub-Saharan Africa (2009-2014). She is a recipient of the Sight and Life Nutrition Leadership Award for 2014. Anna Lartey was the President of the International Union of Nutritional Sciences (IUNS, 2013-2017). Anna was awarded a Doctor of Science honoris causa, by McGill University in June 2018.

Astrid Agostini is a Senior Adviser on Climate and the Environment in the FAO Investment Centre. With more than 20 years of experience in sustainable agriculture, natural resources management and climate change, Astrid has provided support to countries in all regions on investment planning and projects financed by the World Bank, IFAD, EBRD, GEF and GCF. She has led FAO's climate finance team and managed FAO's work on REDD+. Astrid holds an M.A. in Philosophy, Politics and Economics from the University of Oxford and an M.Sc. in Environmental and Resource Economics from University College London.

Joyce Njoro is Lead Technical Specialist, Nutrition and Social Inclusion at IFAD. She leads efforts to integrate nutrition in the funds' investments in agriculture and rural development as well as policy engagement, capacity building and knowledge management. Prior to joining IFAD in November 2017, she worked for the Renewed Efforts Against Child Hunger (REACH) Secretariat in Rome, hosted by the UN-WFP, where she contributed to strengthening multi-sectoral nutrition governance and mainstreaming of nutrition in key sectors for various governments. After the major global Avian Influenza pandemic, Joyce joined UNDP Nigeria where she led the development of the national multi-sectoral pandemic prevention and preparedness plan. She has also worked for several regional and international NGOs in support of community based approaches and pro-poor policies. Joyce holds a Masters in Rural Sociology and Community Development and a Bachelor of Veterinary Medicine degree, both from the University of Nairobi.

Ann Turinayo is Country Director, West and Central Africa at IFAD. She is passionate about sustainable rural development and rural transformation, and has over 15 years' experience as a practitioner in this field. Ann's career experience spans knowledge institutes, local and international NGOs, and currently the UN-IFAD. With a desire to contribute more directly to rural development and transformation, Ann worked with local NGOs in rural Uganda (the Kabarole Research and Resource Centre), and later on with INGOs such as the Netherlands Development Organisation, prior to joining IFAD where she currently serves as the Country Director for Burkina Faso and Sierra Leone. Ann believes that equitable (and not differential) access to productive agricultural resources is a critical element for women, youths to contribute to agricultural productivity and food security.

Romina Cavatassi is the Lead Natural Resource Economist at IFAD where she leads the Impact Assessment and research agenda and has led the preparation of the Rural Development Report 2021. She has been lead technical Specialist for Environment and Climate in IFAD. Prior to joining IFAD, Romina worked for FAO on agrobiodiversity and on Climate Smart Agriculture. She holds a PhD in natural resources economics from Wageningen University and Research Centre, an MSc in environmental assessment and evaluation from the LSE Laurea in economics from the University of Bologna, Italy.